Come to learn about the little-known history that unites our nations on the 20th of April 2024 from 1:30 to 3:30 pm.

There was once "A Good Maharaja" who took under his wing 1000 Polish orphaned children from Siberia during WW II and helped another 20,000 Polish families from the Siberian Gulags to settle in the Gujarat province of India.

Come to find out more about this amazing man who helped many Polish people during World War II.

Come to celebrate his legacy.

Maharaja Jam Sahib of Nawanagar,

Gujarat, didn't ask for any reimbursement, but only asked that a place in Warsaw be named after him. After the end of the communist era in Poland a monument was established called "Good Maharaja Square" in the Ochota District of Warsaw in 2014.
